

Cassidy Holahan

Website: <http://www.cassidyholahan.com>

Email: cholahan@sas.upenn.edu

Phone: 323-633-2336

Education

University of Pennsylvania Aug. 2017 – present
PhD candidate in the Department of English, third year

New York University, MA in English and American Literature May 2017

Colgate University, Magna Cum Laude, BA in Environmental Economics & English May 2014

Awards and fellowships

- Benjamin Franklin Fellowship, University of Pennsylvania
- Runner-Up, Millicent Bell Thesis Prize, New York University, January 2017

Digital Humanities

- Project Manager, Early Novels Database (END), University of Pennsylvania, 2019
- Participated in DreamLab, a digital humanities training institute at the University of Pennsylvania, completing a course in “minimal computing.” June 2019

Leadership and Service

- (Current) Vice President, Graduate English Association, University of Pennsylvania
- (Current) Graduate Reading Group Co-coordinator, Res-Vic (Restoration to Victorian Lit), Penn
- Prospectives Coordinator, Graduate English Association, Penn, 2018-2019
- Co-Coordinator, The 18th c. British Literature Workshop, NYU, 2016–2017
- Co-Founder, Early American Colloquium, NYU, 2016-2017
- MA Representative, Graduate English Organization, NYU, 2016-2017

Talks & Conferences

- (Upcoming) Conference paper at American Studies for Eighteenth-Century Studies (ASECS), March 2020
- Round-up and concluding remarks, Jay I. Kislak Symposium: Jonathan Swift in the 21st Century, University of Pennsylvania, February 2018
- “Retiring to her Chamber: The domestic idyll in Ann Radcliffe’s The Romance of the Forest.” Rutgers Long Eighteenth Century Trans-Atlantic Graduate Studies Group “Habitat” Conference, March 2016